At its core, Mines is a "provably fair" game. Gamers are presented with a grid (usually 5x5) filled with hidden tiles. Behind these tiles lie two kinds of signs: gems (diamonds/stars) and mines (bombs).

The objective is basic: click tiles to expose gems. Each gem exposes a multiplier that increases your preliminary bet. However, if you click a mine, the round ends, and you lose your stake. The tension depends on the "Cash Out" mechanic-- gamers can stop at any time to protect their current payouts, or they can press their luck to reveal more gems for a higher payout.

The Mechanics of Risk vs. Reward

The charm of the Mines game lies in its customizability. Many platforms allow gamers to change the trouble level by selecting how lots of mines are hidden on the grid.

Number of Mines	Danger Level	Prospective Multiplier Range
1	Really Low	1.01 x-- 1.20 x
3	Low/Medium	1.10 x-- 2.50 x
5	Medium	1.25 x-- 5.00 x
10	High	2.50 x-- 25.00 x
20	Severe	15.00 x-- 500.00 x
