- If you are the chip leader and the player in second place bets big, you can match their bet to protect your lead.
- If you are routing badly near the end of a round, acting last permits you to make a contrarian bet (e.g., doubling down when others remain) to make up ground.

2. Difference Management

In a brief competition format, variance is a powerful enemy. Players can not simply wait out a cold streak. Rivals must know when to take calculated risks-- such as doubling down on soft totals or splitting low sets-- even when intuition screams caution. Alternatively, when holding a commanding chip lead, securing those chips by playing conservatively ends up being paramount.

3. Bankroll and Bet Sizing

- Keep an eye on the leaderboards: Always know where you stand relative to the cut-off line.
- Avoid stagnancy: If you are sitting in a qualifying position with only two hands left, stop wagering big amounts. Secure the possession.
- Hostility when behind: If you are outside the money with 3 hands staying, standard bets won't conserve you. You need to scale up your wagers to catch the leaders.
