Tire Blowout Semi Truck Crash Lawyer Texas A tire blowout on a semi truck can send the truck out of control, scatter heavy tire debris across the road and cause multi-vehicle crashes. Texas heat makes tires work even harder, especially on long summer runs. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer investigates the cause of every blowout. Common factors include underinflation, overloading, worn tread, old or recapped tires and skipped pre-trip inspections. Federal rules set minimum tread depths and require drivers to check tires before each trip. Responsibility may rest with the carrier, the maintenance provider, the tire retreader or the tire manufacturer. The firm works to preserve the failed tire for expert analysis. Recapped tires are common on commercial trucks and are legal when properly made and maintained, but problems with retreading, heat and age can cause tread separation. The pieces of tread left on Texas highways, sometimes called road gators, can cause crashes for other drivers even when the truck itself stays in control. The firm works with tire experts who can examine a failed tire and tell whether the failure came from maintenance, manufacturing or road damage, which determines who's responsible for the crash.

The firm prepares every case with trial in mind. That doesn't mean every case goes to court, but it does mean the evidence is ready if it needs to. Insurers tend to make better offers when they know the other side is prepared, and you'll always have the final say on whether to accept an offer or keep going. That preparation also means fewer surprises later, because problems are spotted and dealt with long before anyone walks into a courtroom. A semi truck crash can turn your life upside down in seconds. Medical appointments, missed work, car repairs and insurance calls pile up quickly. Getting the right legal help early can take much of that weight off your shoulders and let you focus on recovering. Having one semi truck personal injury lawyer experienced team handle the legal side makes a stressful time noticeably easier to manage. Talk to a semi truck accident lawyer today at no cost. Call Texas Truck Accident Lawyer at (832) 250-4888 or visit the Houston office at 2100 W Loop S, Suite 818. The team can also meet by phone, by video or at the hospital if getting to the office is difficult right now. You'll leave the conversation with a clear sense of your options and the deadlines that apply to you.

FAQ About

Semi Truck Accident Lawyer Can you sue if a semi truck hits you? Yes. If the driver or trucking company was careless, you can bring a claim against the driver and usually the motor carrier, and sometimes the trailer owner, shipper or maintenance company. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer reviews who's responsible for your crash and which policies apply, with no upfront fee. Call (832) 250-4888 to talk it through. How do you sue a trucking company after an accident? The process starts with a preservation demand so the carrier keeps its truck data, driver logs and camera footage. The firm then investigates, builds the claim and presents it to the insurers once your treatment picture is clear. If no fair offer comes, a lawsuit is filed and the case moves through discovery, mediation and, if needed, trial. How much are most semi truck accident settlements? There's no reliable average because every case turns on its own injuries, medical costs, lost income, fault evidence and available insurance. A soft tissue injury and a spinal cord injury lead to very different outcomes. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer gives honest, free assessments based on the facts of your crash rather than quoting online averages. Is it worth hiring a lawyer if a commercial vehicle hit me but there wasn't much damage? Often it is. Low vehicle damage doesn't always mean low injury, and neck, back and brain injuries can take days to show up. Trucking insurers also move fast to close small claims cheaply. A free consultation with Texas Truck Accident Lawyer will tell you honestly whether representation makes sense for your situation. How long do I have to file a semi truck accident lawsuit in Texas? Texas generally allows two years from the date of the crash for personal injury lawsuits and two years from the date of death for wrongful death claims. Claims involving government entities can require notice much sooner. The firm identifies every deadline in your case at the first meeting. What if the semi truck driver says the crash was my fault? Texas uses proportionate responsibility, so you can still recover if you were 50 percent or less at fault, with your award reduced by your share. Insurers often try to push blame onto the other driver. Truck data, witness interviews within 48 hours and crash reconstruction help keep fault assigned on the evidence. Who pays when an Amazon or FedEx truck causes a crash? It depends on who employed the driver and who owned the vehicle. Many Amazon deliveries are run by delivery service partners, and some FedEx routes are run by independent contractors, each with its own insurance. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer works through those arrangements to identify every source of coverage. What damages can I recover after a semi truck crash in Texas? You can seek medical expenses, future care, lost wages, lost earning capacity and property damage, along with pain, mental anguish, physical impairment and disfigurement. Where a company acted with gross negligence, exemplary damages may also be available. The firm's nurse practitioner helps make sure every injury is documented. Do I need a lawyer who focuses on truck accidents? Semi truck cases involve federal safety rules, driver qualification files, electronic logging data and several layers of insurance that ordinary car wreck claims don't. A firm that focuses on trucking knows which records to demand and how to use them. Texas Truck Accident Lawyer handles truck and commercial vehicle crashes across Texas from Houston and Dallas. How much does a semi truck accident lawyer cost? Texas Truck Accident Lawyer works on contingency, so there's no upfront payment and no attorney's fee unless the firm recovers money for you. The firm also covers investigation and expert costs while the case moves forward. The fee is explained clearly before you sign.
