The property is basic: a multiplier begins at 1.00 x and begins to climb upward. A virtual item-- frequently represented as a rocket, a jet, or a terrorist with a C4 charge-- ascends, and the multiplier increases along with it. The objective for the gamer is to "squander" before the multiplier randomly "crashes."

If a player cashes out at 2.50 x, they win their preliminary wager increased by 2.50. However, if the video game crashes before they cash out, they lose their entire bet for that round.

How a Standard Round Works

2. The Launch: Once the betting window closes, the multiplier starts at 1.00 x and starts ticking upward.
3. The Flight: As the multiplier rises, gamers see the graph climb. Tension builds because the game can crash at actually any second-- even at 1.00 x.
4. The Cash Out: Players click the "Cash Out" button whenever they choose. Their payment is secured at that precise multiplier.

5. The Crash: The video game stops climbing up at an established, arbitrarily created point. Those who failed to squander before this point lose their bets.

Video Game Mechanics and Example

To envision how payments work, consider the following breakdown of a hypothetical best CSGO crash five-round video game session with a £ 10 bet per round:

Round Crash Point Gamer Action Result Revenue/ Loss 1 1.45 x Squandered at 1.30 x Won +£ 3.00 2 1.02 x Squandered at 1.50 x Lost (Crashed before 1.50 x) -£ 10.00 3 8.40 x Cashed out at 2.00 x Won +£ 10.00 4 1.15 x Cashed out at 1.10 x Won +£ 1.00 5 1.00 x Squandered at 1.05 x Lost (Instant crash) -£ 10.00 Overall -----£ 6.00
