Making the Most of the Season

Spring weddings pair beautifully with pastel florals, garden-style centerpieces and lighter fabrics. Many couples schedule their ceremony for late afternoon to take advantage of longer daylight, then move to the porch rocking chairs for cocktails as the sun lowers over the ridges. The getting-ready rooms let the wedding party stay comfortable while the day warms up.

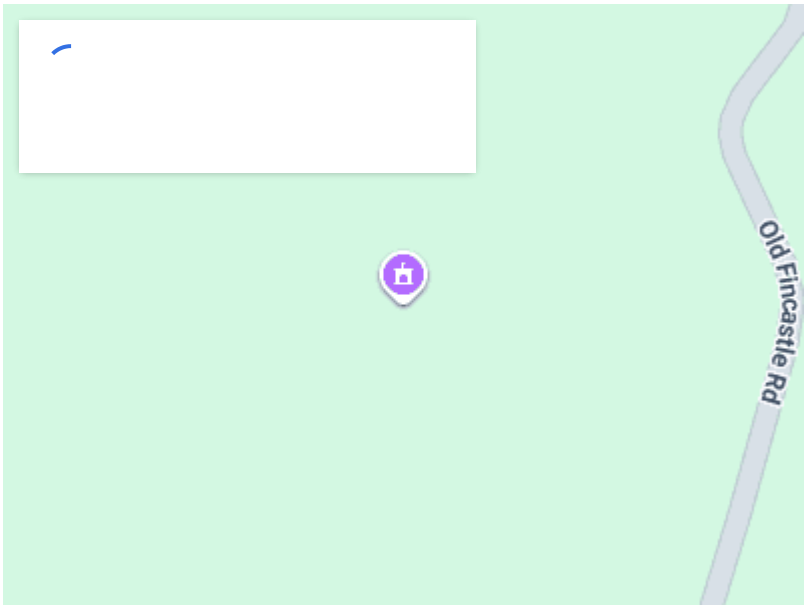

Spring is also a busy season for graduation parties and showers in the Roanoke Valley, so it is wise to start your search early. The farm hosts bridal showers and baby showers too, which means you could hold your shower and your wedding at the same place and give guests a familiar setting both times.

Spring Timeline Ideas

In April and May, sunset arrives later each week, which gives you more flexibility with your ceremony time. A 4:30 or 5:00 ceremony often leaves room for cocktails on the porch, dinner in the barn and portraits outdoors while the light is still warm. Check the sunset time for your exact date with the family or your photographer, and build your timeline backward from there. Daleville guests will appreciate an evening that ends early enough for an easy drive home, while those staying overnight can linger by the fire pit.
