Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Are CSGO skins considered real cash?

Formally, Valve states that Steam Wallet funds and products have no real-world financial value and can not be lawfully redeemed for cash through official channels. However, due to the fact that third-party marketplaces permit users to purchase and offer skins for fiat currency, they have an acknowledged secondary-market value.

Why do platforms utilize bots?

Historically, bots were used to hold a pool of items so users might trade instantly. Due to recent limitations and trade-cooldown updates implemented by Valve, numerous platforms have transitioned to peer-to-peer (P2P) systems to bypass bot constraints.

Can I get VAC banned for utilizing a CSGO gambling site?

No. Valve's anti-cheat system (VAC) discovers software modifications running on your PC that give unjust advantages in-game. Utilizing a browser-based betting platform will not result in a VAC ban, though your Steam account might in theory be affected if related to fraudulent trade rings or commercial API abuse.
