Adding a barn, a workshop, a garage or a storage building to a rural property starts with a cleared, level site. South Atlantic Land Works prepares building sites for outbuildings across Prince Edward County and the surrounding area, from small sheds to large equipment barns.

The crew clears the footprint and a working area around it, removing brush and trees with forestry mulching and leaving the surrounding ground protected. Once the site is open, grading can level the pad and set drainage so water moves away from the structure rather than pooling against it. Getting drainage right at this stage saves a lot of trouble later, especially on Piedmont clay that holds water.

Access matters too, so Mike will look at how trucks, concrete and materials will reach the site and clear that route at the same time. Doing it all in one visit keeps the project simple and gives your builder a site ready to work.

Hunting clubs and family hunting tracts often have the same goals: better access, better visibility from stands and more forage for deer. Clearing done with those goals in mind can transform a hard to hunt property into one that is easier to manage and more productive season after season.

Drainage is something to think about before the first tree comes down. Clearing changes how water moves across a property, especially on clay soils that do not absorb rain quickly. Planning where water will go, and grading where needed, prevents puddling around buildings and keeps driveways and fields from washing out.

Slopes deserve extra attention. On rolling Piedmont ground, a hillside cleared down to bare clay can lose a surprising amount of soil in a single summer thunderstorm. Leaving roots in place and a blanket of mulch on top slows runoff and gives vegetation a chance to take hold, which is why local land clearing services mulching is often the safer choice on any property that drains toward a creek or a neighbor.

Every estimate is free. Mike walks the property first, listens to what you want to achieve and explains the approach before a single tree comes down, so there are no surprises once the work begins. Hunting land, food plots, shooting lanes and access trails are all part of the regular workload, and Mike understands how to open land up without stripping away the cover that holds game. Selective clearing is a specialty. The crew can clear brush and unwanted trees while leaving mature hardwoods, shade trees and privacy screens standing exactly where you want them.

FAQ About Land Clearing Near Me How much does land clearing cost in Central Virginia? Land clearing costs depend on how thick the vegetation is, the size of the trees, the terrain and how much of the property you want opened up. A lot of light brush and saplings costs far less than mature hardwood on a slope. South Atlantic Land Works gives free estimates after walking the property, so you get a real number for your land rather than a guess. Call 434-603-1964 to arrange one. What is forestry mulching? Forestry mulching is a clearing method where a mulching head cuts and grinds brush, saplings and small trees in place, leaving the material as a layer of mulch on the ground. South Atlantic Land Works runs a mulching head on a CAT compact track loader, so a site in Rice or Farmville can be cleared in a single pass with no hauling and no burn piles. Is forestry mulching better than bulldozer clearing? For most homesites, pastures, trails, fence lines and hunting land, mulching is cleaner and more cost effective because it keeps topsoil and roots in place and eliminates burn piles. A dozer can remove stumps and strip a site completely, which some building projects need. Mike at South Atlantic Land Works will recommend the right mix for your property, including grading or stump grinding where needed. Can I clear land during Virginia's spring burning season? Yes, if the clearing is done by mulching. Virginia's 4 PM Burning Law restricts open burning near woodland from February 15 through April 30, which can hold up traditional clearing that relies on burn piles. Because South Atlantic Land Works grinds vegetation in place, there is nothing to burn and spring projects can go ahead on schedule. Do I need a permit to clear land in Virginia? It depends on the size and purpose of the project and on your county's rules. Larger land disturbing projects can fall under Virginia's erosion and sediment control requirements, so it is worth checking with your county before work starts. Mulching leaves soil covered and roots in place, which helps limit erosion. South Atlantic Land Works can talk through your plans when it walks the property. How long does it take to clear an acre of land? Clearing time varies with vegetation density, tree size, slope and ground conditions. Light brush can go quickly, while heavy timber or steep ground takes longer. After walking your property, Mike at South Atlantic Land Works can give you a realistic timeframe along with your free estimate, and the crew works Monday through Saturday to fit your schedule. What happens to the trees and brush after clearing? With forestry mulching, trees and brush are ground into wood chips and spread across the cleared area. That mulch layer protects Piedmont clay from erosion, holds moisture and breaks down into organic matter over time. There are no debris piles to haul away or burn, which is one reason South Atlantic Land Works uses mulching on most jobs. Can you save certain trees when clearing my property? Yes. Selective clearing is one of South Atlantic Land Works' specialties. Before work begins, Mike walks the property with you and marks the oaks, shade trees and privacy screens you want to keep. The compact track loader and mulching head can then clear the underbrush and unwanted trees around them without damaging what stays. Can you clear land for food plots and hunting? South Atlantic Land Works regularly clears food plots, shooting lanes and access trails on hunting land across Prince Edward, Cumberland, Buckingham and Charlotte counties. Mulching opens the ground for discing and seeding while leaving the surrounding cover that holds deer and turkey intact. Will the brush grow back after forestry mulching? Some species, such as sweetgum and many invasive shrubs, can sprout back from roots, so mulching works best with follow up mowing or maintenance. Once the woody growth has been cleared, keeping it open is usually straightforward. Mike at South Atlantic Land Works can suggest a maintenance plan based on what is growing on your land.
